A Note from Our New Agronomist Daniel Lundeen

I wanted to send out a quick note to get to know me as I will be beginning to transition to work with you as an agronomist in your area. This transition will be ongoing as I work to get up to speed on the Stone lineup. I do still have some supporting activities to provide to my old Channel team. What's most important to me is that we get the customers agronomic support when then need it. I hope to bring value to your business by providing you with product and agronomy information throughout the year.

I'll provide some information about myself in an effort to build some rapport. I have been with the Channel brand since 2008, first as a Midwest Seed DSM, then a Channel Technical Sales Agronomist beginning in 2010. Since 2010 I have had numerous territories throughout the state and eventually was able to work myself into my home territory. I live in Altona with my wife Becca and three kids Kate (8), Audrey (7), and Henry (5). Becca is a small animal veterinarian in Oneida, a practice she opened last year. Kate will be in 4th grade, Audrey in 2nd, and Henry will be in kindergarten. Aside from the agronomy role, I farm with my dad Mike in northern Knox and southern Henry counties.

You can reach me at my number via phone or text 309.368.7681.

My email is daniel.lundeen@channel.com
